

In each problem, the graph of the derivative of a function is given. Assuming that the original functions are continuous (no breaks or asymptotes) and pass through the origin, draw a graph of the original function, identifying local extrema and points of inflection.

